Poetry is a form of art that can be enjoyed by people of all ages. It can be used to express emotions, tell stories, and explore the human condition. Poetry can be serious or funny, lighthearted or dark. It can be anything the poet wants it to be.

In recent years, there has been a growing trend towards quirky and lustful poetry. This type of poetry is often characterized by its use of unconventional language, imagery, and themes. Quirky and lustful poetry can be funny, sexy, or even downright bizarre. But it is always entertaining.

If you're looking for something different in your poetry, then you should definitely check out quirky and lustful poetry. Here are a few examples to get you started:

“The Love Song of J. Alfred Prufrock” by T.S. Eliot

Let us go then, you and I, When the evening is spread out against the sky Like a patient etherized upon a table;

Let us go, through certain half-deserted streets, The muttering retreats Of restless nights in one-night cheap hotels And sawdust restaurants with oyster-shells:

Streets that follow like a tedious argument Of insidious intent To lead you to an overwhelming question ... Oh, do not ask,
"What is it?" Let us go and make our visit."

"Ode to a Nightingale" by John Keats

My heart aches, and a drowsy numbness pains My sense, as though of hemlock I had drunk, Or emptied some dull opiate to the drains One minute past, and Lethe-wards had sunk:

'Tis not through envy of thy happy lot, But being too happy in thine happiness,— That thou, light-winged Dryad of the trees,
In some melodious plot Of beechen green, and shadows
numberless,

Singest of summer in full-throated ease."

"The Waste Land" by T.S. Eliot

April is the cruellest month, breeding Lilacs out of the dead land, mixing Memory and desire, stirring Dull roots with spring rain.

Winter kept us warm, covering Earth in forgetful snow, feeding A little life with dried tubers.

Summer surprised us, coming over The Starnbergersee with a shower of rain; We stopped in the colonnade, and went on in sunlight,

Into the Hofgarten, and drank coffee, And talked for an hour.”

These are just a few examples of the many great quirky and lustful poems that are out there. So if you're looking for something new and different in your poetry, then I encourage you to check it out.
